FOR WHICH PEOPLE NEED SCHOLARSHIP ASSISTANCE:

OVERCOMING BROKEN RELATIONSHIPS

For many of our scholarship recipient families, finances have become difficult due to broken marriages. In many cases, one parent is left holding the burden for their family without the support of the other parent. This can be an overnight, life-changing experience, and you can imagine the difficulty children have with the sudden change.

Camp provides a unique environment where boys and girls are not only removed from their routines and, in many cases, the chaos back home, but also they are invited into a 24/7 environment providing a reset and, oftentimes, renewal with peers, mentors, and God.

MANAGING MEDICAL SETBACKS

Families can experience unusual financial setbacks due to serious health concerns. Cancer treatment, expensive unexpected surgeries, chronic medical conditions, and injuries are a few of the consistent reasons a family will seek scholarship assistance for a retreat or camping program.

These setbacks can often create additional stress in the home, which is all the more reason a few days or weeks in the Frio Canyon makes a significant difference in maintaining important relationships with loved ones and with God.

CHANGES IN WORK STATUS

Over the years, a number of families have needed scholarship support for camp or a retreat due to a job loss or change that lowers household income. This can be a devastating time for families, particularly causing relational hardships that can be difficult to repair.

Time away in a setting like Laity Lodge provides time for reflection and healing for couples and families—and also a time for young people to enjoy friendships without the stresses these family hardships can pose on children.
